LIGHT HOUSES.

Isaac Woodward, Esquire, Surveyor of those Light Houses in the Bay of Fundy belonging to New Brunswick, and also of those belonging to Nova Scotia which are partly supported by this Province.

Cape Sable Seal Island Light.—The first Light in approaching the Bay of Fundy, is on the South Point of the Seal Island. This is a plain white Light, elevated about 80 feet above high water mark, and may be seen in approaching the Island from any point of the compass. A very dangerous rock, under water, but upon which the sea always breaks, called Blonde Rock, lies about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles S. by W. by compass, from the Light House. Between this rock and the Island, there are some dangers—the ground is rocky throughout, and large vessels, therefore, ought not to attempt passing between them.

Brier Island Light.—In advancing up the Bay, the next Light is situated on Brier Island, about half a mile N. E. from the N. W. point thereof. A plain white light

Digby Gut Light.—The next light on the coast of Nova Scotia is placed on the west side of Digby Gut—from Brier Island North Eastward. The coast is very bold and not indented; the Light is therefore chiefly intended as a guide into Digby Basin—A white Light.

Gannet Rock Light.—This Light is intended to warn vessels of their approach to a very dangerous range of shoals and ledges, which extend from the Old Proprietor to the Seal Islands off Machias, a distance of about twenty miles. It is a flash light—white—twenty seconds dark and forty light in each minute. The Light House is painted in stripes, vertical, black and white Bearings and Distance by Compass from the Gannet Rock Light House. This Light bears from the Light house on Brier Island, N. N. W. $\frac{3}{4}$ W. 22 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the Old Proprietor E. $\frac{1}{4}$ S. distance 7 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the Black Rock, off White Head Island, N. E. $\frac{1}{4}$ E. 7 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the South West Head of Grand Manan, N. N. W. $6\frac{1}{4}$ miles.

From the Gannet Rock to the Northernmost of the Murr Ledges, N. W. $\frac{1}{4}$ N. $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles.

To the Southernmost of ditto, called Saint Mary's Ledge, W S. W. 2 miles.

From the Gannet Rock to Machias Seal Island, W and by N $\frac{1}{4}$ N. 12 miles.

NOTZ.—Between the Northernmost and Southernmost of the Murr Ledges, there is a range of dangerous rocks and shoals, many of them always above water, and which extends Westward from the Light House about four miles; from this range, farther Westerly, about six miles from the Gannet Light, lies a dangerous breaker called the Bull. This may be avoided by keeping three remarkable headlands near the S. W. end of Grand Manan, open.

From Brier Island Light to the Old Proprietor, N. and by W. $\frac{1}{4}$ W. 18 $\frac{1}{2}$ miles

The Blonde Rock from the Southernmost point of the Cape Sable Seal Islands S. and by W. $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles distant.

Machias Seal Island Lights.—There are two fixed white lights upon the Machias Seal Islands, elevated about forty-five feet above high water, and bear from each other E. S. E. and W. N. W. distant about 200 feet, by which circumstance of two Light Houses at the same station, they will be immediately distinguished from all other lights upon the coast, (British or American) Both the Buildings are painted white. The following are the bearings from them, viz:

To the Southernmost Murr Ledge, (St. Mary's) E. S. E. easterly. Gannet Rock Light E. by S. $\frac{1}{4}$ S. 13 miles.

Southern Head of Grand Manan, E. by N. $\frac{1}{4}$ N.

Northern Head of Grand Manan, N. E. $\frac{1}{4}$ E.

N. E. Rock, distant 2 miles, N. E. by N.

Little River Head, N. by W.

Libby Island Light House, (American,) N. W. by W:

Vessels standing to the Northward, between these Lights and the Gannet Rock, should tack or haul off the moment they bring these Lights in one, as they will not then be more than three fourths of a mile from the Murr Ledges, if more than five miles to the East of the lights.

It is recommended that the Ship's Compasses should be well compared and adjusted (particularly in new ships), before they leave Partridge Island, as serious errors have frequently occurred from want of attention on this point; and as the variation in the Bay of Fundy is seventeen degrees Westerly, or ($1\frac{1}{2}$ points) it will be found by the latest published Admiralty Charts, that the course from Partridge Island down the Bay (South Channel) between the Old Proprietor and N. W. Ledge, is S. W. $\frac{1}{4}$ S., but the course to be steered must depend on the direction of the wind on leaving Partridge Island.]

Head Harbour Light.—Next in order after passing Grand Manan and the plain white Light, (American) on West Quoddy Point, is Head Harbour Light. This is placed on the North East extremity of, Campo Bello, and is a guide to vessels entering the main Channel to West Isles, Moose Island, and the inner Bay of Passamaquoddy; it enables vessels also at all times to enter Head Harbour—it is a fixed white light. The building is painted White, with a red cross on it.

Point Le Preau Lights.—Upon this projecting head land two lights are placed, one above the other, in the same house, and distant 28 feet—Both lights can be seen from every point of the compass, where they may be useful—both are fixed and white. The Light House is painted red and white, in stripes of five feet broad each, horizontally.

Partridge Island Light.—This light at the entrance of the River and Harbour of Saint John, having been established upwards of forty years, requires no particular notice, further than that it is a fixed white light, and that the Light House is red and white, in vertical stripes.

Beacon Light.—Within Partridge Island, and upon a Spit or bar which extends about half a mile S. S. E. off Sand Point, and which dries at two-thirds ebb, stands the Beacon Tower. Upon this Tower a light is established, which is eminently useful to the coasting trade of Saint John, and to all other vessels having pilots on board, as it enables them to enter the harbour at all hours of the night. A fixed white light. The House is white and black, in stripes vertically.

Quaco.—A revolving white light is placed on a small rock off Quaco Head, showing twice full and twice dark in a minute. This light can be seen from any quarter where a vessel can approach. The Light House is painted white and red in horizontal stripes.

Cape Enrage Light.—On the point of that name, in Westmorland, nearly opposite Apple River Harbour, N. S. A plain white light. The House is painted white, and is about 120 feet above tide mark.

West Quoddy Light.—This is an American Light, and is placed on the West side of the entrance into the Saint Croix by Lubec and Eastport.

Cape Forchu Light.—On Cape Forchu, on the western side of the entrance to Yarmouth (Nova-Scotia), in lat. 43, 39, N. long. 66, 8, W. It exhibits a plain revolving light—visible one minute and a quarter, and invisible half a minute. The building is painted white, and is elevated 135 feet above the level of the sea.

RATES OF PILOTAGE,

Established by a Law or Ordinance of the Common Council of the City of Saint John—passed 3d August, 1848.

Five Shillings per foot, for bringing any Ship or Vessel into the Harbour of Saint John, and mooring her into a safe place or berth, or securing her alongside of one of the Wharves; and Five Shillings per foot for removing and taking any Ship or Vessel out of the Harbour.

In cases where Pilots shall be detained on board of Vessels, under and by Virtue of the Quarantine or Health Laws of the Province, they shall be entitled to demand and receive from Masters of such Vessels, the sum of Ten Shillings per day, for every day of such detention, in addition to the allowance aforesaid.

Coasting Vessels, going from one part of the Bay of Fundy to another, British Steam Boats, or British Vessels drawing under six feet of water, are not compelled to take pilots; when employed, they are to be paid according to the rate above mentioned.

For removing Vessels from any mooring ground to any Wharf, or from one Wharf to another Wharf, and seeing them properly moored or secured, the following rates: For Vessels not exceeding One Hundred Tons, Seven Shillings and Sixpence; for Vessels over One Hundred and not exceeding Two Hundred Tons, Ten Shillings; for Vessels over Two Hundred and not exceeding Three Hundred Tons, Fifteen Shillings; and for all Vessels over Three Hundred Tons, the sum of Twenty Shillings.

First Distance.—From Patridge Island to Musquash Cove Head, bearing North West, Five Shillings per foot.

Second Distance.—From Musquash Head to Point LePreaux, bearing North West; Six Shillings and Threepence per foot.

Third Distance.—From Point Lepreaux to North Head of Grand Manan, bearing North West—or North Channel, bearing South East, Seven Shillings and Sixpence per foot.

Fourth Distance.—From the North Head of Grand Manan—or North Channel as aforesaid—to Machias Sea Island, bearing South, or Brier Island bearing South South East, Eight Shillings and Ninepence per foot.

Fifth Distance.—Any where outside the aforesaid distance, Ten Shillings per foot.

Come, ye who rove in fancy's bowers,
The bowers for ever fresh and fair;
Come, twine with me a wreath of flowers,
To deck old Winter's frosty hair.
What shall our grateful offering be,
To crown with joy the infant year?
Nor leaf, nor bursting bud I see,
On drooping nature's snowy bier.
What shall we bring my mates, to deck
Time's stern unyielding brow?
Of warning winds the fading wreck,
Of leaves swept from the native bough.

FEBRUARY.

The lovely blossoms that we prize,
 Lie closely wrapt in earth's cold bed :
 Fair children of unclouded skies,
 On dainty dew and sunbeams fed.
 Say shall we bid the rose awake,
 And don her vest of crimson hue?
 The lily pure her slumbers break,
 And gem her pearly crown with dew?
 Or to the modest violet say,
 Unclose thine eyes of purple light ;
 The spring is here—rise—come away—
 The air is calm—the skies are bright?
 We cannot bid these sleepers rise—
 But we can cull from fresher bowers,
 A wreath, whose fragrance never dies,

MARCH.

[1857.]

Come ye, whose spirit's love to bask
In clime's where fairer blossoms shine;
Come, aid me in my welcome task,
Another wreath of song to twine.
The land of our adoption claims
Our lightest powers—our firmest trust;—
May future ages weave our names
With hers, when we shall sleep in dust.
Land of our sons!—last born of earth—
A mighty nation nurtures thee;
The first in power and moral worth—
Long may 'st thou boast her sovereignty!

APRIL.

But yesterday the fields were frozen round,
The hills sat cowering 'neath their burdens cold,
Asking if Spring was never to unfold—
If Boreas' trumpet, would forever sound;
But now the sun leaps forward with a bound;
Things yield to gentle influence that did mock
Rude force, and the persistent leaves of oak
And russet beech come rustling to the ground.
Cracks the pellucid ice, and gushes forth,
Gurgling with joy, the long imprisoned stream;
The snow-drops and the crocuses, whose birth
Looked premature, in harmony now seem.

MAY.

[1587]

The only sign of Spring I see,
In his drear time of frost and cold,
Is when I fondly look on thee,
Sweet girl of angel mould.
I think of violets when thine eyes
Dart sunlight on my dreary way,
And dream once more of cloudless skies,
And the green plaid of May.
Old Winter wears a look less sour,
To hear thee breathe affection's words;
Thy look recalls Spring's rosy bower,
Thy voice her singing birds.

JUNE.

Bland as the Morning's breath of June,
 The south-west breezes play,
 And through its haze the Winter noon,
 Seems warm as Summer's day.
 The snow-plumed angel of the north,
 Has dropped his icy spear ;
 Again the mossy earth looks forth—
 Again the streams gush clear.
 The fox his hill-side den forsakes—
 The musk-rat leaves his nook—
 The blue-bird in the meadow-brakes,
 Is singing with the brook.

Oh! they look upward in every place
 Through this beautiful world of ours,
 And dear as a smile on an old friend's face
 Is the smile of the bright, bright flowers!
 They tell us of wanderings by woods and streams;
 They tell us of lanes and trees;
 But the children of showers and sunny beams
 Have lovelier tales than these.
 They tell of a season when men were not,
 When earth was by angels trod,
 And leaves and flowers in every spot
 Burst forth at the call of God.

AUGUST.

I wandered, one morning in youth's early hours,
In a garden all sparkling with dew-drops and flowers ;
There was beauty and sweetness around and above,
And my wild heart was throbbing with rapture and love.
I paused 'neath a rose-tree, all blooming and fair,
To pluck a bright bud to entwine in my hair,
But e'en as I grasped it from off the green spray
Its bright petals murmured, passing away !
To a green leafy bower my footsteps then rove,
Where a wild bird was trilling its sweet notes of love ;
The bright birdling carolled, "Oh, list to my lay,
Maiden, young maiden, passing away !"

SEPTEMBER.

[1857.]

The sultry summer past, September comes,
Soft twilight of the slow-declining year;
All mildness, soothing loneliness and peace;
The fading season ere the falling come,
More sober than the buxom blooming May,
And therefore less the favorite of the world,
But dearest month of all to pensive minds.
'Tis now far spent; and the meridian sun,
Most sweetly smiling with attempered beams,
Sheds gently down a mild and grateful warmth,
Beneath its yellow lustre, groves and woods,
Checkered by one night's frost with various hues.

The tints of the summer are falling fast,
 And the sere leaves are falling from every blast;
 And I think at the close of each shortening day,
 That another bright summer has past away!
 It has past, like the rest, with its hopes and its fears,
 Now brightened by smiles, now bedimmed by tears,
 It has past, like the rest, with its pleasure and pain,
 And, like them, it must never return again.
 The fast falling leaves and these withering flowers
 Are an emblem of man and his fleeting hours;
 For he basked for awhile in the sun's bright ray,
 And the summer of life has passed away.

NOVEMBER.

[1857.]

There is a time, just ere the frost
 Prepares to pave old Winter's way,
 When Autumn, in a reverie lost,
 The mellow daytime dreams away.
 When Summer comes in musing mind,
 To gaze once more on hill and dell,
 To mark how many sheaves they bind,
 'To see if all is ripen'd well.
 With balmy breath she whispers low;
 The dying flowers look up and give
 Their sweetest incense ere they go,
 For her who made their beauties live.

We had friends who are gone, like the Summer that's o'er ;
 But why grieve ! Although hid from our sight ,
 As the flowers will return, so their spirits will soar
 Again into regions of Light !
 And what though, at times, the fitful wind rave
 Round our homes ; and the chilly sleet fall,
 Let us think of the dangers that lurk in the wave,
 Of storms that the soldier appal.
 In our moments of joy let reflection intrude,
 Let us pray for the True and the Brave !

MISCELLANEOUS.

PROFITS OF DAIRYING.—My own dairy consists of 28 cows, 3 three-years-old heifers, and 2 two-years-old heifers. These five heifers I call equal to four cows, which would make thirty-two cows.

From these cows we have during this season, 17,435 lbs. cheese. The most of it has been sent to New-York, and sold by Ludlum & Leggett, commission merchants. Theirs I consider a first class house for selling good butter and cheese.

17,435 lbs. cheese, after deducting freight, carriage,
and commission, amounts to	$1,093.65
780 lbs. butter, at 22 cents,	171.60
370 gallons milk sold, at 14 cents,	51.80
4 quarts per day for family use,	43.80
30 calves, 4 days old,	30.00
4 Ayreshire calves, at $25,	100.00

Amounting,	$2,100.85
or $65.65 for each cow.

Some of my cows are native breed—a part of them a mixture of English—the remainder Ayreshire. The latter I consider preferable for the dairy, not only for the large quantity of milk they give, but for the richness of the milk, and their peculiar properties for holding out their milk late in the season.

There are some fifteen or more other dairies in this town alone, of over 10,000 lbs. each, besides many of lesser note. Several of these dairymen are improving their breed of cows, in order to increase their products.—Granville, N. Y.

REMEDY FOR LICE IN POULTRY.—In answer to "A Subscriber." The best preventive, is cleanliness. Infested as your house is with them, you should give it a thorough cleansing. Clear it thoroughly, and give it a good coat of white-wash, and scatter slacked lime on the floor and perches. Any kind of oil or grease will kill lice on fowls; but that which is thin, is most readily applied, and most readily spread over the body. Dipping the chicks in tobacco-water will kill the vermin, but is likely to make the fowls sick and drooping for a while. Snuff scattered among the feathers, will thin off the lice. Wood ashes should be provided for the fowls to dust themselves in, and if flour sulphur is mixed with the ashes, it will be useful. Sulphur scattered in the nests of setting hens will tend to prevent them from getting lousy.—Country Gentleman.

TO MAKE EWES GIVE MILK AT LAMBING TIME.—Feed them for ten days previous with soaked bran and carrots, twice each day, and give them a good warm stable.

A PRECOCIOUS PULLET.—A circumstance which occurred in this neighborhood during the past season, has been communicated to me, and as it appears to be thought somewhat singular, I forward you the facts. A person living about a mile from here at present, raised a large flock of chickens, hatched first day of May last, of which flock several commenced laying when four months old; one of the chickens having completed a litter of eggs, commenced clucking, and the owner, in order to see the result, put the eggs under her. On the first day of November last, the hen being then six months old, had a brood of eleven chickens, hatched by herself from eggs of her own laying, the chickens being then eight days old. The statement is confirmed by several respectable persons living in the neighborhood. I saw the hen and seven of her chickens about three weeks ago, four of the flock had died from cold and exposure. Six of the flock most strikingly resemble the mother, the seventh differed slightly in appearance from the rest. The hen is of the common dunghill breed of the country, with perhaps a slight cross of the Cochin China. This, however, I only infer from the general appearance of the hen, and the owner could not inform me whether there had been a cross or not. BLUE NOSE. St. Andrews, N. B., Jan. 3, 1856.

SOLACE OF AGE.—Next to the hope of another world, a happy memory is the best solace of age. We can imagine nothing so dreary; nothing so full of gloom and sorrow; nothing so much surcharged with the agony of hell, as a review and a recollection of a bad, or a mis-spent life. The man who is forced to look back upon a career of fraud and deceit, of falsehood and crime, of open or concealed treachery; whose life has been a persistent outrage upon truth, and justice, and right; who has followed his own selfish inclinations, deaf to every accusation of conscience, and every warning of God; who has hardened himself in his iniquity until iniquity has become his delight, the man, in a word, who has destroyed his best sensibilities, seared his conscience, and blinded his judgment, by habits of open or concealed sin, not only finds no satisfaction in the retrospect of life, but in the future he has nothing but a fearful looking for of judgment, when God shall arise to punish all the wicked of the earth. We repeat, that nothing can be more dreary or melancholy than an old age of vice, in which every recollection is pain, and every emotion a source of distress. But even where life has not been passed in positive vice, but has been mis-spent or mis-employed; where it has been wasted in trifles or fretted away at aimless labors; where it has been used selfishly for the mere gratification of pampered appetites, or in dreamy reveries; there, too, must inevitably be found the material for sharp and bitter recollections in that period of life when man may be said to live more in the past than in the present. An old age, uncomforted by the memory of a well spent life, is like the Dead Sea, which is at once the grave and hiding-place of ruins, on which the seal of the Divine wrath is stamped. But how enviable is the state of those who, without pride, or vanity, or self-elation, are nevertheless able to say, on the most candid review of their lives, that they have not labored in vain, nor spent their strength for naught. It was in no spirit of self-laudation that an apostle exclaimed, "I am now ready to be offered; I have fought a good fight; I have kept the faith." He could recall his perils, and conflicts, and toils; and all seemed pleasant, as he surveyed them from that lofty height up which his all-conquering faith had led him. How consolatory to their last hours must have been the exercises of memory to such men as Howard, and Wilberforce, and Chalmers, and such women as Hannah More, and Harriett Newell, and Mrs. Winslow, and others who, like them, were "steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord." A bright and happy memory weaves a halo around "the hoary head," when found in the ways of righteousness.—Christian Intelligencer.

HEALTH.—The only way for a rich man to be healthy is by exercise and abstinence, to live as if he was poor.—Sir W. Temple. The humors of the body have a stated and a regular course, which impels and imperceptibly guides our will. They co-operate with each other, and exercise successively a secret empire within us; so that they have a considerable part in all our actions, without our being able to know it.—La Rouche-foucauld. Anguish of mind has driven thousands to suicide; anguish of body, none. This proves that health of mind is of far more consequence to our happiness than the health of body, although both are deserving of much more attention than either of them receives.—Cotton. People who are always taking care of their health, are like misers who are always hoarding a treasure which they have never spirit enough to enjoy.—Sterne.

GROWTH OF CITIES.—Of the cities of Great Britain, the population of London in 1801 was about nine hundred thousand. By 1810 it had risen to more than a million; by 1820 to a million and a quarter; by 1830 to a million and a half; and finally, by 1850, to two millions and a third. But the growth of other English cities has been proportionately even greater. Manchester, in 1801, had a population of only eighty-four thousand; it numbers now over three hundred thousand. Liverpool, at the beginning of the century, had but eighty thousand inhabitants, while fifty years later they had increased to nearly four hundred thousand. Birmingham, in 1801, had a population of seventy-three thousand; in 1850 it had two hundred and fifty thousand. The chief cities of Scotland increased not less rapidly. Glasgow, which had but seventy-seven thousand inhabitants in 1801, had three hundred and sixty-seven thousand half a century afterwards. Even Ireland exhibits a growth, though to a less degree, in city populations. Dublin had but one hundred and eighty thousand inhabitants in 1800; in 1850 it had two hundred and fifty thousand.

American cities have of course "got along" a little faster. In 1800, the inhabitants of Philadelphia were but little over seventy thousand, whereas now they may be fairly computed above half a million. In 1800, New York had a population of sixty thousand, now it has six hundred and twelve thousand. Boston had twenty four thousand denizens half a century ago; in 1850 it had about one hundred and forty thousand. Pittsburgh had fifteen hundred in 1800; at present it has over fifty thousand, exclusive of Allegheny city, which is really a suburb of it. Cincinnati had seven hundred and fifty in 1800; it had one hundred and fifteen thousand in 1850. Baltimore had twenty-six thousand in 1800; it has over a hundred and seven thousand now. Buffalo was a wilderness in 1800, and even so late as 1810 had only fifteen hundred inhabitants; it has now more than forty-five thousand. In addition there are scores of towns in the West, which were not laid out even so late as twenty years ago, which have now ten or twenty thousand denizens.

SPORTS OF ANIMALS.—Small birds chase each other about in play; but perhaps the conduct of the crane and the trumpeter is the most extraordinary. The latter stands on one leg, and hops about in the most strange manner, and throws somersets. Hence it has been called the mad bird. Water birds, such as ducks and geese, dive after each other, and clear the surface of the water with erected neck and flapping wings, throwing abundant spray around. Deer often engage in a sham battle, or trial of strength, by twisting their horns together and pushing for a mastery. All animals pretending violence in their play stop short of exercising it. The dog takes the precaution not to injure by his bite; and the baboon in wrestling with his keeper pretends to throw him, and makes feints of hitting him. Some animals carry out in their play the semblance of catching their prey. Young cats, for instance, leap after every small moving object, even to the leaves strewn by the autumn wind; they crouch and steal forward, ready for a spring. The body quivering, and the eyes glaring with emotion, they bound on the leaf, and again spring forward to another. Birds of the magpie tribe are the analogies of monkeys, full of mischief, play, and mimicry. I once heard a story of a tame magpie that was seen busily employed in a garden gathering pebbles, and with much solemnity and studied air burying them in a hole made to receive a post. After dropping each stone it cried "Currao!" triumphantly, and set off for another. On examining the spot, a poor toad was found in the hole, which the magpie was stoning for his amusement.—Home Companion.

AN INDIAN LEGEND.—Out of a pine in the Iroquois settlement, and about five feet from the ground, is growing up with the tree a ram's head, with the horn's still attached to it; and so fixed and imbedded is it in the tree that it must have grown up with it. Almost the whole of one of the horns and more than half of the head is buried in the tree; but most of the other horn and part of the head protrudes out at least a foot. We examined both, and found the tree scarcely two feet in diameter. Here we put up at an early hour, and called the place Ram's Horn Encampment. Our Flathead Indians related to us a rather strange story about the ram's head. Indian legend relates that one of the first Flathead Indians, who passed this way, attacked a mountain ram, as large and stout as a common horse; that, on being wounded, the fierce animal turned round upon his pursuer, who, taking shelter behind the tree, the ram came against it with all his force, so that he drove his horn through it; but before he could get it extricated again the Indian killed him, and took off the body, leaving the head as a memento of the adventure. All Indians reverence the celebrated tree, which they say, by the circumstance related, conferred on them the power of mastering and killing all animals; hundreds, therefore, in passing this way, sacrifice something as a tribute to the ram's head; and one of the Iroquois, not to incur the displeasure of the god of hunters, hung a bit of tobacco on the horn, to make his hunting propitious.—The Fur Hunters of the Far West, by Alexander Ross.

THE NIGHTINGALE.

"Tiuu tiuu tiuu tiuu—Spe tiu zqua—
Tio tio tio tio tio toittio tix—Qutio qutio qutio qutio—
Zquo zquo zquo zquo—Tzu izu izu izu izu izu izu izu tzi—
Quorror tiu zqua pipiquisi—Zozozozozozozozozozozozozozozoz zirrhading, &c., &c.!"

So does a well-known naturalist endeavour to express the wild and spiritual melody of this most exquisite of British song-birds, the NIGHTINGALE. And in truth it is perhaps as good a description as can be given without the aid of music. Even its own marvellous notes sound comparatively weak unless backed by the accompaniments of night and tranquillity; for the inimitable song of this Mendelssohn among birds loses great part of its beauty when uttered by day, deadened and confused with other sounds.

In some counties of England it is never found, but in many its nightly strains are frequently heard. The fields and College gardens of Oxford are full of Nightingales, whose songs add greatly to the effect of the scene. Well may Isaac Walton say in his delightfully quaint language:

"But the Nightingale, another of my airy creatures, breathes such sweet, loud music out of her instrumental throat, that it might make mankind to think that miracles are not ceased. He that at midnight, when the very laborer sleeps securely, should hear, as I have very often, the clear airs, the sweet descents, the natural rising and falling, the doubling and redoubling of her voice, might well be lifted above earth, and say, 'Lord, what music hast thou provided for the saints in Heaven, when thou affordest but men such music on earth!'"

ADVANTAGES OF EXERCISE.—We like mischevicious children, and for this reason, they are apt to make old men. Good boys generally die in their fifth year; not because they are good, but their quiet habits make them strangers to mud puddles, oxygen, dirt-pies and out-door exercise. When a friend tells us he has a little boy who "never wants to leave his books," the knob of his front door immediately becomes an object of intense interest to us; we know, as if we were blest with foreknowledge, that in less than a year a strip of black crape will be throwing a shade across his path that time will never eradicate.

A HINT THAT IS NOT BAD TO TAKE.—The sound of your hammer, says Franklin, at five in the morning, or nine at night, heard by a creditor, makes him easy six months longer; but if he sees you at the gaming-table, or hears your voice at the tavern when you should be at work, he sends for his money next day.

SOME of our cotemporaries state that peat is now being used for fire on the Worcester and Nashua Railroad, and with great satisfaction. Parties having purchased extensive tracts of peat moss, in the belief that it will supersede wood on some of the Eastern Railroads.

UGLY FACTS.—An egotist is especially hated by all other egotists.

Those who believe that money can do everything, are frequently prepared to do everything for money.

The only good a miser does is to prove the little happiness there is to be found in wealth.

To be angry with a weak man is a proof that you are not very strong yourself.

Solitude is the despair of fools, the torment of the wicked, and the joy of the good. It is alike pandemonium, purgatory, and paradise—according to the soul that enters it.

ELLIOTT'S ADVICE.—The Rev. John Elliot, styled the Apostle of the Indians, was once asked by a pious woman, who was vexed with a wicked husband, and bad company frequently infesting her house on his account, what she should do? "Take," said he, "the Holy Bible into your hand when bad company comes in, and that will soon drive them out of the house."

DIDEROT'S CONFESSION.—It is related, that one day M. Beauzet, a member of the French Academy, went to see Diderot, one of the champions of infidelity. He found him explaining a chapter of the Gospel to his daughter, as seriously, and with the concern of a most Christian parent. M. Beauzet expressed his surprise. "I understand you," said Diderot, "but, in truth, what better lesson could I give her?"

THE SHIP-BUILDER'S OPINION OF WHITFIELD.—A ship-builder was once asked what he thought of Mr. Whitfield. "Think!" he replied; "I tell you, sir, every Sunday that I go to my parish church, I can build a ship from stem to stern under the sermon; but, were I to save my soul, under Mr. W., I could not lay a single plank."

PRIDE OF BIRTH.—Bannister used to tell a story of his having been introduced, with Mrs. Bannister, to an elderly lady of exceedingly "high notions." After the presentation had taken place, the lady asked a wit of the day, who was present, "Who are the Bannisters? are they of good family?" "Yes," said the wit, "very good indeed; they are closely allied with the Stairs." "Oh," said Lady Lucretia, "a very ancient family from Ayrshire, dates back to 1460; I am delighted to see your friends."

A KEEN RETORT.—A writer in the Georgetown Baptist Herald, says "A preacher, not one hundred miles from this, while contending, as he thought, for the 'ancient order of things,' by ridiculing the doctrine of a call to the ministry, as proof that there is no such call, observed, that he never believed he was called to preach—'And no person else ever believed it,' said an acquaintance standing by."

DR. BEECHER'S RULE.—"When you have anything to do, don't tell it, but go and do it; for if you tell it beforehand, the devil will be sure to get up some opposition to it."

ALCOHOL was first invented and used to stain the cheeks of the ladies of Arabia, 950 years ago. It still reddens portions of the human face.

SHREWD WEIGHING—A pedlar in the Highlands of Scotland having run short of butter, applied to a farmer's wife for a supply.

"How much do you want?" said the woman.

"A pun will do," said the pedlar.

"I canna mak' you a pun," said the woman.

"Why?"

"I ha' na a pun weight."

"Well what weight ha' ye?" said the pedlar.

"Two pun," said the woman.

"And which is the weight?" said the man.

"O it's just the tangs," (the tongs.)

"Weel," said he, "put ane leg in the scale and t'other out, and that'll be a pun."

The woman did as requested, but when it was weighed, she looked doubtfully at the butter and said:

"It looks a large pun."

"It's a' right, woman, how much is it?" said the pedlar.

"A sixpence," was the reply, which the pedlar paid and hastily departed, lest she should discover how she had been cheated.

OLD, SHORT AND SHARP.—"You had better ask for manners than money," said a finely-dressed gentleman to a beggar who asked for alms. "I asked for what I thought you had most of," was the cutting reply of the mendicant.

"Tis strange," muttered a young man, as he staggered home from a supper party, "how evil communications corrupt good manners. I've been surrounded by tumblers all the evening, and now I'm a tumbler myself."

CURIOSITY.—Among the curiosities lately added to the Boston Museum is a musquito's bladder, containing the souls of twenty-four misers, and the fortunes of fifty-one printers—nearly half full.

A COLORED servant sweeping out a hotel boarder's room, found a sixpence, which he carried to its owner.

"You may keep it for your honesty," said he.

Shortly after he missed his gold pencil case, and inquired of the servant if he had seen it.

"Yes sar," was the reply.

"And what did you do with it?"

"Keep 'um for my honesty, sar."

THE BEST "SLEIGH BELLES" ever invented are a pair of red checked girls.

THE best heater to resist winter with is a benovolent heart. Those who have tried improved stoves, and failed, will please to remember that a load of wood given to a poor person, warms you almost as much as it does him. Try it.

"It's a very solemn thing to be married," said Aunt Bethany. "Yes, but it's a deal more solemn not to be," said a spinster aged forty.

RESPECTABILITY.—"Cato, does yau know dem Johnsing's, up dar, in Congo Place, is going to be bery 'spectable folks?" "Wall, Scipio, I thought dey war getting along bery well, but I does'nt know how 'spectable dey is." "How 'spectable does you tink, Cato?" "Wall, guess about tree tousand dollars." "More 'spectable dan dat." "Wall, how 'spectable is dey?" "Wy, five tousand dollars 'an a house an' lot." Whey! good-bye, Cato, I must give 'em a call."

CURE FOR HYDROPHOBIA.—We copy the following from The Post, published at Elizabethtown, Essex County, N. Y. It is certainly worth being remembered and tried.

In one or another of our exchanges we almost every week meet with fearful accounts of deaths by Hydrophobia. Some three years ago we published in the Post a remedy for that terrible disease: but it seems credence was not given to our statement, for it was never copied, to our knowledge. Yet there are still living many evidences of its efficacy. It was first prescribed on a consultation of three Physicians, for an individual who had been bitten and badly torn by a dog known to be mad, and, we believe, after the individual had one or two of the spasms so fearful to behold in a person suffering with the Hydrophobia. The patient was cured and lived many years. Of the three Physicians but one still survives, a man of nearly eighty-five years, but he has had occasion to prescribe the same remedy, during a long term of fifty year's practice, for other persons bitten by rabid animals, and always with success. The last time was within our memory, between the years 1820 and 1824 we believe, when several children in the south part of Chesterfield or the north part of Willsborough, in this County, were bitten by a cat. Animals were bitten by the same cat, and went mad and died. We know not if any of the individuals bitten are still living in that neighborhood, but there are undoubtedly others who still remember the circumstances. A remedy so well known to have been proved a cure should be known to the medical profession and to the world; and we once more publish it, hoping that others may imbibe a portion of the faith we ourselves have in it; and again prove its efficacy should an occasion unfortunately offer.

We give the recipe as written out for us many years ago.

Recipe for the Cure of the Bite of a Mad Dog or other Rabid Animal.—"Keep the sore running or discharging matter as long as possible with powdered verdigris dusted into the wound, and give one grain of Turpith Mineral at a dose three times in the day, in a little dry sugar rubbed very fine and washed down with warm tea or water, till the mouth is slightly affected with the mercury, then stop till the appearances of the affection of the mouth have disappeared; then repeat the course in the same way. Repeat the course three or four times in the course of six weeks, when I consider the patient out of danger."

THE STING OF WASPS, ACID.—We have never found anything so efficacious for venomous stings, as a paste made of saleratus. A sting in the finger by a yellow wasp which felt as if it nearly pierced through, was entirely relieved of the swelling and of every other unpleasant feeling, in a short time, except the simple soreness of the puncture, like that of a needle, by this application. There may possibly be other alkaline applications better than this, but we do not know them.

In corroboration of the correctness of the theory on which this remedy is founded, we have lately observed an incident mentioned in the travels of James Backhouse, an eminent English naturalist and missionary in the Mauritius and South Africa. In passing through the forests, his hat came in contact with the naked combs of a large ochre-colored wasp, and one of them avenged himself by stinging him in the finger. "The burning pain subsided in a few minutes, on pressing out the poison, and sucking the part affected. The poison was distinguishably acid."

CROUP AND WHOOPING COUGH.—I send you the two following receipts for the cure of two of the most common diseases among children, viz.: Whooping Cough and Croup. The remedies cost nothing, can be administered by anybody, and are always at hand. The croup remedy will cure the patient in two hours. I ask the credulous and incredulous to give them a trial.

WHOOPING COUGH.—The best kind of coffee prepared as for the table, and given as a common drink to the child as warm as it can be drunk; and a piece of alum for the patient to lick as often as it may wish. Most children are fond of alum, and will get all they need without being urged, but if they dislike it, they must be made to taste of it eight or ten times in the course of the day. It will effectually break up the worst case of whooping cough in a very short time. To adults or children in the habit of taking coffee, the remedy is good for nothing.

CROUP.—A piece of fresh lard, as large as a butter-nut, rubbed up with sugar, in the same way that butter and sugar are prepared for the dressing of puddings, divided in three parts, and given at intervals of twenty minutes, will relieve any case of croup not already allowed to progress to the fatal point.—N. Y. Ev. Post.

CRANBERRIES AND ERYSIPELAS.—The Niles (Michigan) Republican says: "A lady visited our family a few days since, and stated that her daughter had the erysipelas very bad. We called to mind the remedy recommended by a New Haven editor. On returning home in the evening she found the disease spreading rapidly—it had assumed a frightful appearance. She immediately applied a poultice made of cranberries, which seemed to arrest it at once, and the second poultice effected a complete cure."

FOR BURNS AND FROZEN FLESH.—It is said that an Indian meal poultice, covered with Young Hyson tea, softened with hot water, and laid over burns or frozen flesh, as hot as can be borne, will relieve the pain in five minutes.

EDUCATION IN CANADA.—In 1852, the population of Upper Canada was 352,004—number of persons of school age (between five and twenty) 368,952. Of these latter, 203,488 were pupils of 3,127 Common Schools, 256 Academies, and eight Colleges and Universities—Income, £199,996. The number of teachers employed, was 3,539. In 1853, in Lower Canada, the total number of educational institutions was 2,118, and of scholars 408,284, number of teachers, 2,212. Income £68,696. The educational statistics of Upper Canada, rank with those of Denmark alone, all other countries falling behind in the proportion of Schools, Scholars and teachers, to population. The United States, Sweden, Saxony & Prussia come next. Lower Canada ranks with Belgium and Norway. Portugal falls farthest in the rear in education—Russia next, and Spain next—all exceeding "orthodox" countries

A TABLE
For Foretelling the Weather through all the Lunations of each Year forever.

FORMED BY DR. HERSCHELL, AND REVISED BY DR. ADAM CLARKE.

This table and the accompanying remarks are the result of many years actual observation, the whole being constructed on a due consideration of the attraction of the sun and moon, in their several positions respecting the earth, and will by simple inspection shew the observer what kind of weather will most probably follow the entrance of the moon into any of its quarters, and that so near the truth as to be seldom or never found to fail

If the new moon, the first quarter, the full moon, or the last quarter, happens	IN SUMMER.
	IN SUMMER.	IN WINTER.
Between midnight and 2 in the morning,	Fair.	Hard frost unless the wind, s. or w.
2 and 4 morning,	Cold and showery	Snowy and stormy.
4 and 6, "	Rain.	Rain.
6 and 8, "	Wind and Rain.	Stormy.
8 and 10, "	Changeable.	Cold Rain, if the wind be w ; snow if e.
10 and 12, "	Frequent showers.	Cold, and high wind.
At 12 noon, and 2 p. m.	Very rainy.	Snow or rain
Between 2 and 4 p. m	Changeable.	Fair and mild.
4 and 6, evening.	Fair.	Fair.
6 and 8, "	Fair, if wind n. w.	Fair and frosty, if wind is n. or n. e.
	Rainy, if s. or s. w.	Rain or snow, if s. or s. w.
8 and 10, "	Ditto.	Ditto.
10 and midnight,	Fair	Fair and frosty.

Observations.—1. The nearer the time of the moon's change, first quarter, full and last quarter, are to midnight, the fairer will be the weather during the seven days following.

2. The space for this calculation occupies from ten at night till two next morning.

3. The nearer to midday or noon, the phases of the moon happen, the more foul or wet weather may be expected during the next seven days.

4. The space for this calculation occupies from ten in the forenoon to two in the afternoon. These observations refer principally to the summer, though they affect spring and autumn nearly in the same ratio.

5. The moon's change, first quarter, full and last quarter, happening during six of the afternoon hours, i. e. from four to ten, may be followed by fair weather ; but this is mostly dependent on the wind, as is noted in the table.

6. Though the weather, from a variety of irregular causes, is more uncertain in the latter part of autumn, the whole of winter, and the beginning of spring, yet, in the main, the above observations will apply to those periods also.

7. To prognosticate correctly, especially in those cases where the wind is concerned, the observer should be in sight of a good vane, where the four cardinal points of the heavens are correctly placed.

RELIGION.—I have lived long enough to know what I did not at one time believe, that no society can be upheld in happiness and honour without the sentiment of religion.—La Place.

It is right to be contented with what we have, but never with what we are.—Sir J. Macintosh.
